FEDERAL LEGISLATIVE OUTLOOK AND PRIORITIES FOR 2011

This memorandum is to provide your Board with the Federal legislative outlook for 2011, which is the first year of the 112th Session of Congress. It also outlines the County's major Federal priorities that are being pursued based on this outlook and the County's needs, consistent with the County's existing Board-adopted Federal legislative policies, as discussed below:

Federal Legislative Outlook

The Federal legislative outlook for much of the two-year 111th Session of Congress, which began in January 2009, was positive for the County. This is because the County's Federal advocacy priorities in support of health care reform, state and local fiscal relief, and job creation also were priorities of the Obama Administration and Democrat-controlled Congress. Health care reform, fiscal relief, and jobs still are of major importance to the County. Health care reform not only will extend health coverage to most of the County's uninsured residents in 2014, but also has increased the amount of Federal Medicaid revenue that the County will receive under the State's Section 1115 Medicaid waiver.

State and local fiscal relief and job creation also continue to be critically important. Both California and the County have been hit harder by the economic downturn than the rest of the nation. Every month since August 2009, the State and County's unemployment rate has exceeded 12 percent, while the rate for the rest of the nation never exceeded 10 percent. In February 2011, California's unemployment rate of 12.2 percent was the second highest of any state. The County's unemployment rate of 12.6 percent was even higher, far exceeding the national unemployment rate of 8.9 percent. California also still has the largest projected budget shortfall of any state, despite having enacted tens of billions of dollars in State budget cuts over the past three years.

While the County's need for Federal aid, job creation, and health care reform has not changed, the Federal legislative and budget outlook for 2011 has changed dramatically. Most notably, after a decade in which the Federal budget deficit ballooned from a net surplus to annual deficits exceeding a trillion dollars, reducing the Federal budget deficit has become a top priority for policymakers in Washington, D.C. Concern about controlling the budget deficit steadily grew over the course of last year though it did not stop Congress from enacting legislation which significantly increased the deficit by extending expiring tax cuts and unemployment insurance benefits and by delaying implementation of Medicare physician payment rate reductions. Of major importance to the County, Congress also extended the temporary increase in the Federal match rate ("FMAP") for Medicaid, Foster Care, and Adoption Assistance for an additional six months through June 30, 2011, though at a lower rate than provided under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) of 2009.

The new 112th Congress is far more serious about reducing the Federal budget deficit as evidenced in the current debate over the Federal Fiscal Year (FFY) 2011 Continuing Resolution (CR). Unlike past short-term CRs, which historically have provided funding at the prior year's funding level, the two short-term CRs enacted this year include budget cuts, and Congressional Republicans are calling for a full-year FFY 2011 CR which reduces Federal funding by at least $61.5 billion below the prior year level.

Congressional debate over how to reduce the Federal budget deficit also will include debate over both entitlement and tax reform. This is because it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to significantly reduce the deficit without reducing entitlement spending and increasing tax revenue. Discretionary spending, which is set through annual appropriations bills, accounts for only about one-third of total Federal expenditures. In comparison, Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid together alone account for roughly 40 percent of total Federal spending -- a percentage which will increase over time with the growing elderly and disabled population.

The future size of the Federal budget deficit also will be greatly affected by how Congress addresses the future of temporary Bush era and ARRA tax cuts, which will expire at the end of 2012 under current law. There also is considerable bipartisan interest in comprehensive tax reform, which includes simplifying the tax code by reducing tax rates and tax deductions, credits, and other tax breaks. However, there is far less consensus on the "devil in the details" of tax reform -- especially over which specific tax breaks should be reduced or eliminated and how much, if at all, overall tax revenue should be increased or decreased.

In addition to the heightened interest in reducing the Federal budget deficit, another major change in the 112th Congress is the return to divided government -- one in which neither party controls the Presidency and both houses of Congress. In the mid-term November 2010 election, Republicans regained majority control of the House by a comfortable margin and also increased their representation in the Senate from 42 to 47 Senators. Also, fewer moderates from either party were elected to Congress, continuing the long-term trend of increased polarization between the two parties in Congress.

This increased polarization, combined with the increased use of filibusters and other delaying tactics in the Senate, which requires a 60-vote majority to overcome, has resulted in fewer and fewer Federal bills being enacted each year. It even has become increasingly difficult and less common for reauthorization and annual appropriations bills to be enacted. In FFY 2010, Congress appropriated a total of $290.8 billion for programs whose authorizations had expired under 250 separate authorization laws. This included appropriations for major state and local grant programs, such as the Community Development Block Grant, Community Services Block Grant, and Workforce Investment Act (WIA) programs, which have not been reauthorized for many years. It also has become common for Congress to fund most Federal programs through an omnibus appropriations bill or full-year CR rather than enacting all 12 annual appropriations bills. For example, the annual Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education appropriations bill has been enacted only twice since FFY 1998.

With the major partisan differences in Congress and difficulty of securing the required 60-vote majority to overcome a filibuster in the Senate, it is highly unlikely that climate change or immigration reform legislation will be enacted this year. It similarly appears unlikely that Congress will enact multi-year legislation to extend major programs of County interest, which are up for reauthorization this year, such as Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), Water Resources Development Act (WRDA), State Criminal Alien Assistance Program (SCAAP), WIA, and surface transportation ("SAFETY-LU") Programs. SAFETY-LU authorization originally expired on September 30, 2009. Since then, Congress has passed a series of short-term extensions for SAFETY-LU -- the latest one extending its authorization through the end of FFY 2011.

Prospects for the enactment of major changes in entitlement spending and/or taxes this year will largely depend on whether a FFY 2012 Budget Resolution with budget reconciliation instructions to reduce entitlement spending and/or increase tax revenues is adopted. This is important because budget reconciliation legislation cannot be filibustered in the Senate, which means that only a simple majority rather than 60-vote majority is needed to move such legislation on the Senate floor. Over the years, major tax and entitlement program changes have been made through budget reconciliation legislation, including last year's health care reform law, the 1996 welfare reform law, which created TANF, and the Bush Administration's major tax cuts.

Federal Priorities for the County

The County's overarching Federal priority this year will be to protect the County against Federal deficit reduction measures which would reduce the County's revenue or increase net County costs. The Federal budget climate has changed to one in which reductions in Federal aid to state and local governments are far more likely than increases in Federal aid – a dramatic change from a year ago. The County's top Federal budget priorities will include:

Medicaid: The single largest and most important source of Federal and State revenue to the County, by far, is Medicaid, which plays a key role in helping to finance medical care, mental health services, and In-Home Supportive Services which are provided by the County. Medicaid is especially important to counties in California, which are the health providers of last resort for their indigent residents under State law. Under the Affordable Care Act (ACA), the health care reform law enacted last year, Medicaid has become even more important to the County. This is because the ACA greatly expands Medicaid eligibility, increases Federal financial participation, and requires states to maintain their current eligibility standards and to not increase local governments' percentage share of non-Federal Medicaid costs as a condition of receipt of the enhanced FMAP for newly eligible Medicaid beneficiaries.

Medicaid will be a major target for deficit reduction because it is the third largest open-ended entitlement program and because its expenditures will grow significantly over the next ten years. According to Congressional Budget Office (CBO) estimates, under current law as amended by the ACA, Federal Medicaid expenditures will grow from $264.0 billion in 2012 to $587.0 billion by 2021. Governors are concerned about the high and rising state share of Medicaid costs and their limited flexibility to control these costs, especially under the ACA, which mandates Medicaid eligibility expansions while limiting the flexibility of states to reduce Medicaid costs by reducing eligibility or shifting costs to local governments.

The single biggest threat to the County is that Federal Medicaid expenditures would be significantly cut by replacing the current open-ended Medicaid entitlement with a state block grant in which Federal funding to states is capped. As an open-ended entitlement, Medicaid is a far more secure and growing source of Federal revenue than under a block grant. This is because, as an open-ended entitlement, Medicaid revenue automatically grows to match rising caseloads and costs and meet health care needs without requiring the enactment of new Federal legislation. This is especially important because health care costs are continually growing, not only due to overall population growth, but also due to increases in the cost of care and increases in the number of indigent aged and disabled individuals who require more costly care, including long-term care.

Open-ended Medicaid entitlement funding also importantly has enabled the County to leverage matching Federal Medicaid funds at no cost to the State by financing the non-Federal share of costs – an option which would be eliminated if Medicaid funding is block granted or otherwise capped. This has been especially important during economic downturns when it, otherwise, would be financially impossible for the State or County to finance the increased cost of providing health care services to the increased number of indigent and uninsured persons.

The amount of Federal cost savings from block granting Medicaid would be based on how much less funding than otherwise would be provided under current law to finance rising health costs and caseloads. Less Federal Medicaid funding also would mean less State Medi-Cal revenue for the County and other health providers because a block grant would enable the State to reduce its spending and to use Federal funds to supplant State General Fund costs. Moreover, to the extent that a Medicaid block grant would provide states with greater flexibility to determine eligibility, covered services, and payment rates, the State would be able to shift a greater share of health costs to the County and other health care providers. The County especially would be at risk of incurring increased costs resulting from reductions in Medicaid eligibility because counties are the provider of last resort for indigent persons under Section 17000 of the Welfare and Institutions Code.

A Medicaid block grant also would greatly disadvantage California because the State currently receives the least Federal Medicaid funding per recipient of any state. As a result, the State's initial base block grant funding would be low relative to all other states. Moreover, there is a major risk that a Medicaid block grant allocation formula will be inequitable for California for the very fact that its population alone exceeds the combined population of 21 states, which are represented by 42 Senators. This puts California at a major disadvantage when state allocation formulas are crafted in Congress.

For reasons such as those cited above, it has been a longstanding Board policy in the County's Federal Legislative Agenda to support maintaining Medicaid as an open-ended entitlement. The Board first adopted this policy in 1995 when a proposal to block grant Medicaid received serious attention when the Congress similarly was considering how to significantly reduce the Federal budget deficit. Consistent with that Board policy, one of the County's advocacy priorities this year will be to preserve Medicaid as an open-ended entitlement and oppose converting Medicaid into a state block grant.

If Medicaid is not block granted and remains an open-ended entitlement, Federal Medicaid expenditures could be cut by reducing Federal Medicaid match rates, allowable non-Federal matching funds, eligibility, covered services, or payments, such as Disproportionate Share Hospital (DSH) payments. Such Medicaid budget reductions would adversely affect the County by reducing the County's Medicaid revenue and/or increasing net County costs. Any reduction in Medicaid DSH funding especially would hurt the County because DSH funding is targeted at hospitals, such as the County's, which incur major uncompensated costs for serving indigent and uninsured patients. Moreover, the County's revenue under the State's Section 1115 Medicaid waiver also could drop if legislation to cut Federal Medicaid spending is cut. This is because the waiver's terms and conditions require its cost neutrality to the Federal government to be adjusted to reflect any changes in Federal law or regulations.

The County's Washington, D.C. advocates will seek to preserve the State's and County's Medicaid revenue, consistent with existing policies in the County's Federal Legislative Agenda, such as:

- Oppose proposals which would increase the County's unreimbursed costs of providing and administering health care services, such as proposals which would reduce the level of Medicaid payments, reduce the number of Medicaid eligible persons, and reduce the scope of Medicaid covered services; and
- Support for proposals which would increase California's Federal Medicaid match rate.

Health Care Reform: Congressional Republicans are pursuing the repeal of the entire health care reform law. While the likelihood of its repeal is nil because the President would veto such legislation, some of its provisions could be eliminated or amended – especially those affecting Federal spending. That is, the increased Federal spending resulting from the ACA, such as for Medicaid or health insurance subsidies, could be cut along with other Federal expenditures. In fact, a Medicaid block grant, in effect, would change ACA's Medicaid provisions as well as other Medicaid provisions in current law.

Provisions in the ACA, which are especially important to the County, include:

- Its Medicaid eligibility expansions, including to medically indigent adults who currently must rely on the County for health care under Section 17000 of the State's Welfare and Institutions Code;
- Its requirement that states maintain current Medicaid eligibility levels, procedures and methodologies, which prevents California from reducing Medicaid eligibility;
- Its requirement that states not increase local governments' percentage share of non-Federal Medicaid costs as a condition for receipt of the enhanced FMAP for newly eligible Medicaid individuals, beginning in 2014; and
- Its new Prevention and Public Health Fund, which can be used to fund either newly authorized or pre-existing prevention, public health and wellness activities above their FFY 2008 funding levels. The ACA appropriated $15.0 billion for the Fund through FFY 2019 and $2.0 billion a year thereafter.

Pursuant to existing Board policies, the County's Washington, D.C. advocates will seek to preserve the ACA, especially its provisions which expands health insurance coverage, provides the County with increased Federal and/or State resources with which to finance medical, mental health, public health, and other County-administered services, and protects the County from increased costs for such services.

Human Services Entitlements: Next to Medicaid, the County receives most of its Federal revenue through human services entitlement programs -- most notably, TANF and Title IV-E Foster Care and Adoption Assistance. California receives over one-fifth of total Federal TANF and IV-E funding, and the County alone receives more TANF and IV-E funding than any state other than California and New York. The County also receives a sizable amount of State revenue pursuant to TANF state maintenance-of-effort and IV-E match requirements.

Neither TANF nor IV-E funding is expected at this time to be targeted for spending reductions to the extent that Medicaid will be targeted. This is largely because, unlike Medicaid, annual Federal TANF and IV-E foster care expenditures have been relatively flat, as a result of major Federal budget cuts enacted under the Federal 1996 welfare reform law, which was a budget reconciliation bill. Under that law, the open-ended Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) entitlement was replaced by the TANF block grant under which each state permanently receives an annual allotment equal to the amount that it previously received under AFDC. That same law reduced Federal IV-E expenditures by permanently linking Federal foster care and adoption assistance eligibility to AFDC eligibility standards in effect in July 1996, which has resulted in a steady decline in the percentage of children eligible for Federal reimbursement.

Title IV-E is an open-ended entitlement for which, similar to Medicaid, Federal matching funds are automatically provided to states without requiring any Congressional action. TANF, however, is a capped entitlement, which must be reauthorized and funded by Congress beyond FFY 2011. Last year, Congress enacted a one-year extension of TANF, and it is expected that Congress will extend TANF for another year rather than to enact a multi-year TANF reauthorization bill. It is noteworthy that, since TANF was established in 1996, a multi-year TANF reauthorization bill has been only enacted once in 2005.

While we expect that Title IV-E and TANF will continue to be funded at their current level, the County's Washington, D.C. advocates will closely monitor proposals which could affect their funding levels. Besides possible TANF reauthorization legislation, this year, Congress could consider legislation to authorize the approval of new Section 1130 child welfare waiver demonstration projects. The County's current IV-E waiver was the last Section 1130 waiver approved before the authority to approve new waivers expired. Legislation is not required to renew any current Section 1130 waiver, including the County's waiver, which will expire on June 30, 2013.

Consistent with existing policies in the County's Federal Legislative Agenda, the County will support legislation to increase state and local flexibility under IV-E through either Section 1130 waiver authority or by extending the more flexible Section 1115 waiver authority, which currently is used under Medicaid, to IV-E. We will oppose any legislation which would limit state and local flexibility or hinder our ability to renew our IV-E waiver beyond its current sunset date.

Discretionary Spending: Funding levels for discretionary spending programs are set in annual appropriations bills. Congressional Republicans support reducing FFY 2011 discretionary spending by $61.5 billion below the prior year level as well as further cuts in FFY 2012 and future years in order to reduce the Federal budget deficit. Domestic discretionary programs and activities, which are being targeted for far deeper cuts than defense spending account for only about one-eighth of total Federal spending. In the current Federal budget climate, even programs, which historically have had strong bipartisan support, are vulnerable to major budget reductions. For example, H.R. 1, the House-passed full-year FFY 2011 Continuing Resolution, would eliminate all funding for WIA formula grants even though WIA funding historically has had strong bipartisan support. In fact, WIA was enacted in 1998 when Republicans controlled both houses of Congress.

Consistent with the County's existing Federal Legislative Agenda (Attachment), which includes funding priorities for appropriations bills, priority is given to pursuing funding for programs which provide the County with a greater share of total funding and greater flexibility over the use of funds. In addition, the Federal Legislative Agenda also includes two overall Federal policies which are especially relevant to annual appropriations issues facing the County:

- Support proposals which would provide a greater share of total available Federal funding to the County or California, and oppose proposals which would reduce the County's or State's share of total funding; and
- Oppose proposals which would finance increased spending for one program by cutting other programs of greater benefit to the County, or which would result in a net revenue loss or a cost shift to the County.

The policy to oppose proposals which would finance increased funding for one program by cutting other programs of greater benefit to the County was added after it became common for the State Criminal Alien Assistance Program (SCAAP), which provides a relatively high share of total funding to the County, to be targeted for cuts to fund increases in other state and local grants through which the County receives a far smaller share of total funding.

Besides SCAAP, other Federal programs, which are longstanding County priorities because the County receives a relatively high share of total funding, include: Urban Area Security Initiative Grants, Ryan White HIV/AIDS Emergency Assistance, Public Health Preparedness Grants, Hospital Preparedness Grants, WIA formula grants, Community Development Block Grants, Section 8 Housing, and Public Housing. Under each of these programs, the County either receives direct formula grants or mandatory pass-through funds through state formula grants.

As, in past years, the County's Washington, D.C. advocates will support funding for state and local formula grants over competitive grants because California and the County typically receive a far higher percentage share of total formula grant funding than competitive grant funding. This is because formula grants are allocated primarily based on each state's and/or local jurisdiction's percentage share of U.S. total population and/or other need-based allocation factors. In contrast, competitive grants typically do not take into account relative need, and also have maximum limits, which are very low relative to size of the County's population – a population larger than that of all but eight states.

The County also would support eliminating or reducing funding for small competitive grant programs in order to maintain or increase funding for state and local formula grant programs which are County priorities, such as SCAAP and WIA. It is noteworthy that SCAAP directly competes for appropriations under the Office of Justice Program's State and Local Law Enforcement Assistance account, which includes 40 programs which received a combined total of $1.35 billion in FFY 2010 funding, excluding $185.0 million used to fund Congressional earmarks. Except for County-supported SCAAP, Justice Assistance Grant, Southwest Border Prosecutor Initiative, Paul Coverdell Forensic Science Improvement Grant, and John R. Justice Student Loan Repayment formula grant funding, all of the other programs are small categorical grants.

There is strong bipartisan support for eliminating all Congressional earmarks, and the leadership of both houses have indicated that no funds will be appropriated for earmarks in either FFY 2011 or 2012. Because small population states and localities receive far more earmarked funding per capita than more populous states and localities, California and the County are better off if earmarked funding is eliminated as an alternative to deeper reductions in formula grants, which allocate funds based on relative need.

Other Issues: As noted earlier, Congressional activity this year will be focused on the Federal budget, and the County's overarching priority will be to protect against Federal budget cuts which would reduce the County's revenue or increase net County costs. It appears highly unlikely that Congress will enact legislation of County interest, such as climate change, immigration reform, or major multi-year reauthorization bills, such as TANF, WIA, WRDA, and SAFETY-LU. If major Federal issues or opportunities arise, we will advise your Board and pursue them, based on the County's existing Federal Agenda, which is attached, and other Federal policies adopted by your Board.

We believe that the existing Federal Agenda is sufficiently comprehensive to enable the County's Washington, D.C. advocates and County departments to take positions on any Federal issues that may arise this year. The Federal Agenda differs from the County's State Legislative Agenda in so far as the Federal Agenda includes broad overall Federal principles and policies. The overall Federal principles are as follows:

1. Maximize Federal revenues.
2. Secure greater flexibility over the use of Federal funds.
3. Lessen the impact of adverse Federal policies on County costs and decision-making authority.

The overall Federal policies are as follows:

1. Support proposals which would provide a greater share of total available Federal funding to the County or California, and oppose proposals which would reduce the County's or State's share of total funding.
2. Support proposals which would provide local governments with greater decision-making authority over the use of Federal funds, and which provide for direct grants or mandatory pass-through allocations to large urban counties.
3. Oppose proposals which would impose new unfunded mandates on the County.
4. Oppose proposals which would finance increased spending for one program by cutting other programs of greater benefit to the County, or which would result in a net revenue loss or a cost shift to the County.
5. Support proposals to reduce or relax match requirements which hinder the ability of financially distressed state and local governments to receive or utilize Federal funds.
6. Support Federal fiscal relief for financially distressed state and local governments.
7. Oppose Federal preemption of State and local government authority.

These overall Federal principles and policies replaced the need to include more repetitive policies affecting each Federal program, policy, or issue area. For example, the principle of securing greater flexibility over the use of Federal funds replaced the need to have numerous statements supporting greater flexibility under dozens of programs through which the County currently receives or may receive Federal funding. These overall Federal principles and policies also enable the County to respond quickly to new emerging issues and to submit comments on proposed Federal regulations, which have review and comment periods as short as 30 days.

FEDERAL POLICIES ADDRESSING ISSUES OF MAJOR COUNTY INTEREST

1. Health/Mental Health

- a. Support reform of Medicaid financing and provider payments to increase Medicaid payments, including disproportionate share hospital payments, to health safety net providers.
- b. Support reform of Medicaid payments to providers to encourage efficient use of resources and expand ambulatory care services to low-income patients without jeopardizing total available Medicaid funds.
- c. Support a more equitable allocation of Federal Medicaid funds to reduce the current disparity under which some states, such as California, receive far less Federal Medicaid funds per Medicaid recipient than other states.
- d. Support proposals which would increase California's Federal Medical Assistance Percentage (FMAP), the Federal matching rate used under the Medicaid and Title IV-E Foster Care programs.
- e.
